

Pharmacopœia
&
Early Selected Works

Also by Elisabeth Bletsoe

The Regardians: a book of angels

Portraits of the Artist's Sister

Pharmacopœia

Landscape from a Dream

ELISABETH BLETSON

Pharmacopœia
&
Early Selected Works

Shearsman Books
Exeter

Published in the United Kingdom in 2010 by

Shearsman Books Ltd
58 Velwell Road
Exeter EX4 4LD

www.shearsman.com

ISBN 978-1-84861-082-8
First Edition

Copyright © Elisabeth Bletsoe, 1993, 1994, 1997, 1999, 2010.

Illustrations in The Regardians copyright © Deborah Aguirre Jones, 1993, 2010.

The right of Elisabeth Bletsoe to be identified as the author of this work has been asserted by her in accordance with the Copyrights, Designs and Patents Act of 1988.

All rights reserved.

Acknowledgements

Many of these poems, or earlier versions of them, appeared in the following:

Cabaret 246, Calliope, Coal City Review (USA), Iota, Memes, Odyssey, Orbis, Pennine Platform, Ramraid Extraordinaire, Scratch, Spectrum, Tears in the Fence, Tenth Muse, Terrible Work, The Old Police Station, The Wide Skirt, Writing for our Lives (USA); website “The Tower of Silence” (www.dhfurniss.eurobell.co.uk)

“Stinking Iris” appeared in Neue Rundschau (2008), translated into German by Ude Strätling.

See also page 113.

CONTENTS

PORTRAITS OF THE ARTIST'S SISTER

Alpha and Omega	11
The Voice	15
The Solitary One	16
Portraits of the Artist's Sister	18
Puberty	21
Madonna	23
The Lady with the Brooch	24
The Beast	27
Vampire	29
Moonlight	30
Woman in Blue	32
The Dead Mother	33
Portrait of Anne Buhre	35
Rose and Amelie	36
Girls on a Bridge	37
Amor and Psyche	39

INDIVIDUAL POEMS

Watchet	43
An Oblique Look Through Water	45
Low Season, Whitby	47
The Alembic	50
St Bridget's	52
Deer Seen from a Train Near Dilton Marsh	54
Notebooks Retrieved from the Sea	55

THE REGARDIANS

Archangelis	63
The 'Oary Man	69
The Leafy Speaker	75

The Cloudseeder	81
Lachrimatory	87
Azrael	93

Glossary for The Regardians	97
------------------------------------	----

PHARMACOPŒIA

Stinking Iris ( Iris foetidissima )	101
Cow-Wheat ( Melampyrum pratense )	102
Dog's Mercury ( Mercurialis perennis )	103
Elder ( Sambucus nigra )	103
Monkey-Flower ( Mimulus guttatus )	105
Foxglove ( Digitalis purpurea )	105
Stinging Nettle ( Urtica dioica )	106
Lady's Bedstraw ( Gallium verum )	107
Centaury ( Centaureum erythraea )	108
Buddleia ( Buddleia davidii )	109
Tormentil ( Potentilla erecta )	111

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	113
------------------	-----

*For Ian
with my love*

PORTRAITS OF THE ARTIST'S SISTER

Based on the paintings, lithographs, letters and diaries of Edvard Munch.

ALPHA AND OMEGA

“seriously and jokingly tells the eternally recurring story”

when you pulled me
from the mud,
Omega,
and woke me
touched me
with a fern frond
a green interrogation mark:
I could smell disaster, the gunpowder between us

I must admit
I was really rather taken with your eyes
which on ordinary days were hyacinth
but when the serpent of desire unwound your spine, stormed black
in which red planets swam we drank different coloured milk-shakes walked by the sea for hours brightness fell from the air and the golden pillar of the moon simmered on the water

I was happy, too happy to write poetry
and so were you (but that didn't matter quite so much)

we made love in the woods fell among the galaxies of ramson flowers, dog's mercury; our flesh bruised garlic but then I caught you talking with a SNAKE you said that he was interesting that there was nothing in it no matter—

I squashed his head under my foot while you were busy among your many orchards

I know you said you had to be creative but for God's sake, Omega you did it with a DONKEY I thought you only meant knitting or macramé, something harmless and just who was that BEAR I came across—
he'd been fighting with a heart-sick TIGER for want of your body;
flesh hung in strips from the trees and the ground was red
... and as for that PIG I never would have thought you'd have fallen for someone with a curly tail and such disgusting manners in February you met a poet-HYENA

with a shabby coat;
too concerned with the image of being a poet
than with your true vision your words of love left him unmoved—
life could not touch him—you made him a garland of flowers while he drooped his head disconsolate

it would have been easier to take if you hadn't had children all those little monsters running round with human heads and furry limbs—
I wouldn't mind so much if they didn't call me "father" there wasn't a medical profession then to create the concept of PMT so I couldn't even blame it on your hormones

when you wouldn't see the sense of being ruled by me—but when you eloped with that DEER it was the last straw, so to speak that broke the camel's back

Nature screamed.
The sunset bled across the sea, ran howling up the beach.

I wrote bitter things about you in bad verse
and left them scratched on leaves and under stones for worms and birds to read

I found you sleeping by the lake I took you and kissed you under the glass coffin-lid of the water until your lips sang bubbles your face that was death-in-life appalled me;
it wore the same look as when I met you first and now your beauty ringing out a great drowned bell telling my deed

and, Omega, the animals your children and your friends—their eyes burn red holes in the shadows the ground shakes with their tread.
I love you now, Omega, now you are safe and dead but it was when you said it was when you said you loved me—
then I feared you most

THE VOICE

dream of a Summer night

Never when eyes are looking at you can you find them beautiful, remark their colour;
they are hidden by the other's look.

Silent regardian,
your gaze is Possession, since at once you cause my being and steal it from me; fashioning my body in its nakedness, sculpting that which I shall never see, holding the secret of what I am.

My longing had no shape; flexuous, warping, it was the shoreline's milk-dust path, at times a wooden boat, white-hulled, a lake of azuline.

What is desire but this revelation of your eyes, the fact of my own flesh? My touch, in turn, invites you to yourself; reciprocal, we are doubly incarnate.

Nothing between us
but the burning wires of the afternoon; rapture, to hear oneself say "now", to brush together our lips' dry tinder, ignite the moment with our single spark and torch to ashes round us the melting, breathless trees.

THE SOLITARY ONE

not lonely, but alone in the grisaille of evening the light-haired woman of spring dreaming towards life

day and night commingled:
    a moment of balance
    and impending change
        sways the magic mirror

suspended

by a ripple her image lies beyond where fabulous stones birth at the surface with their white laughter way, way out there

the soft line where ocean blends with air incomprehensible as existence eternally longing:

a grey attenuation of cloud darkling, the sea becomes more vast with possibility:

        amethystine of her pleasure

oh and up there, the moon barely perceptible

later to emerge
a discreet pollen
on a blue hour

Pharmacopœia

“we cannot emotionally separate a flower from the place or conditions we find it in” (Grigson)

for Derrick and Tilla

Stinking Iris (Iris foetidissima) Kilve

sea-cliffs &
a green confluence of waters

daggered leaves
    of flower-de-luce
cut your smile
in slices of salt light under a fossil triturate, I conceal charred letters

for you to discover

these stones are shaped by desire, though you will not believe it;

it is a country where you are,
a delicate
recurve of tepals

a “pencilling” of purple-gray/blue-gray
on tombs at Carnac:

Iris who leads a woman’s soul to the fields of Elysium

“growing more grateful & aromatic as it dries”

Cow-wheat (Melampyrum pratense)
Five Lords' Wood, Quantocks

visions of finding the source
among                      these juicy sluices

sweat dries & cools as we ascend

by leaf   by moss   by fern fleck

in aqua-
shadow

acts of rapine
on the grass, a contamination
ground down
to poverty bread

the strong grip of your hand as you pull me
over a dream threshold

making a moue
in the darkness

(petal-tube)

“hold me or I will escape you”

Dog's Mercury (Mercurialis perennis) Quaker cemetery, Milverton

bane

of all herbs the most furious a tendency to uncultivated land

dark-tongued
the guardians of Acheron

in sidereal
cadence
beyond    possession

snailtrack      birdtrack      spidertrack spark

a moment's telegnosis

root-deep in the genesis of silence

Elder (Sambucus nigra)
Culbone

voltage
accrued
since before
Atlantis

leprous crystals
irrupt
each atom, the woods
become hyaline;

incandescent
in shadows of narcolepsy

Eldrun
or Hyllan-tree

wherein a witch embarks herself, will

bleed
at midsummer,
reverse
lightning

where vortices
of 5-petalled flowers
brush lips
skin
hair

by yeast & muscatel

we are both now

forspoken

Monkey-flower (Mimulus guttatus)
Lime Street, Stowey

blood-drop
emlets
in chained water
at our feet

(smiley face)

the “little actor” from Unalaska
working miles & miles of new canals

wild musk
there is none
purer

the clearest
of chrome yellow &

most buoyant companion
I could wish for Foxglove (Digitalis purpurea)

Beech hanger, Longstone Hill

“glistening with excitement”

I eat up your delight

in the consummate mathematics of this many-flowered raceme purgeth the body both upwards & down

invaginated by “soft felt-like hairs”

trigger

pin-drop pollenfall & dazzling cryptographs of ultra-violet

explode

the pyriform
leaving that trace
of digitoxin

palebuff

microcrystalline

Stinging Nettle (Urtica dioica)
Castle Hill, Stowey

infesting the perimeter of the incendiary field we