IUNA Publication List

In addition to the summary findings found on this webpage www.iuna.net, many secondary analyses have also been carried out using our dietary survey data and are published as conference abstracts and full papers in peer-reviewed scientific journals. The list below includes published findings from our surveys and currently dates back to 2010. This list is not exhaustive but serves as a resource for findings on the dietary and lifestyle habits of the Irish population as determined by our nationally representative surveys.
