Memory Verse

"Then the Lord commissioned Joshua son of Nun with these words: "Be strong and courageous, for you must bring the people of Israel into the land I swore to give them. I will be with you.""
Deuteronomy 31:23 NLT

Welcome back to our 2nd Year (Year 11)
Aviation students for Term 2.

From the Principal

Dear families,

It's been great to have the aviation students here again as they are every term in weeks 4 and 5. The weather has been very good, and we do appreciate their time with us.

We have students who have joined us from places like Mt Gambier, Maitland, Gawler, Mt Barker, Clare, and the Adelaide plains; as well as 11 who are local – our highest ever intake of MNCC students to the course.

The Aviation program is funded generously from the Sir Ross and Sir Keith Smith Fund, which every year makes the running of this course viable.

Today you will notice I have included another flow chart. I like these because they are visual, and provide a good way of showing clearly what possibilities and outcomes are possible depending on choices. Sometimes I wish we had some good clear flow charts for life. Well, actually I think we can draw them up if we give it a little thought. If we work hard, treat people well, be honest and kind etc., we can project with reasonable confidence how life could well unfold.

This particular flowchart is for handling Student Grievance. It is colour coded to help students think about what is likely to happen if they have a problem that needs solving. Like us, they may initially have an 'Escape' reaction or an 'Attack' reaction. Both of these are emotional responses, but as you can see do not generally lead to good outcomes. In fact they do not solve the problem at all.

We have been called to assist in some recent situations where students have responded to problems by taking to various social media with a 'gossip' and 'put down' set of approaches. This rarely ends well, and usually makes things worse. We believe this flowchart will be useful to discuss healthier, and more restorative ways of dealing with differences and offendedness.

If we see conflict as an opportunity for growth, it is much healthier than seeing it as inflammatory.

We are still developing the wording of the revised grievance policy, but you can see that the best option is to seek to 'work it out' by talking with the person.

The most important part of the process is to seek a resolution in which apologies are made, and in which all people involved are able to be welcomed back into the group again, some after receiving consequences or making up in some way for their wrongdoing.

Today we announce some staff changes in the front office administration.

Angie Henbest has announced she will be finishing up her time with us. Angie has been a faithful and dedicated worker, and brought a freshness to the newsletter; and worked diligently to oversee promotions and publicity. We have very much appreciated having her work with us over the past 2 years.

Ashley Roberts has been our Business Manager for four years, and has worked with integrity and dedication in that role. Ashley has given a great deal of time and energy, and I have appreciated working with him on College Leadership, and have valued his attention to detail.

We would like to wish them every blessing as they move on from here.

Transition arrangements have been put in place, and we expect advertising to commence shortly.

Please feel free to mention this to friends or associates who might be interested, and encourage them to submit expressions of interest.

Matt Paterson
