How Australia’s small businesses are coping with Covid-19
Introduction

The Sensis Business Index is based on 1,015 online interviews conducted between 29 July to 5 August 2020 with small and medium business proprietors or managers employing up to 199 people. This sample is drawn from metropolitan and major non-metropolitan regions throughout Australia with targets set for location and industry on page 22. Glow is responsible for fieldwork and Dynata for sampling.

The Index is a survey of Australia’s small and medium businesses (SMBs) which commenced in 1993 to measure and track:

• SMB business activity over the last three months
• Expectations for the current quarter
• Overall confidence among SMBs

The Index samples SMBs nationally, enabling broad scrutiny of this sector and relevant trends and issues. It examines differences by location, business size and industry. The aim is to reflect the attitudes and behaviour of SMBs, which comprise some 98%* of Australian businesses and make up 67%* of the country’s GDP (*Deloitte).
Executive Summary

Australia’s small business community has certainly been doing it tough in 2020. First it was fires, then Covid-19 and lockdowns. It has been a hard year and more than half of the businesses in Melbourne surveyed say they will see a decrease in profitability over the next three months.

The survey was conducted just as Melbourne went into Lockdown 2.0 and it showed with 54% of businesses saying their profitability will decrease. Compare that to Sydney which had just 27% of businesses believe their profitability will decrease over the same period.

In fact, nearly one in three Sydney businesses (29%) said they expected to increase their income compared to just 18% of Melbourne businesses.

The most optimistic sectors of the SMB economy were the Wholesale and Manufacturing sectors with 31% believing they would be more profitable over the next three months. The least optimistic were the Transport/Storage and Cultural and Recreational Services both at 13%.

Of all the businesses we surveyed nearly half (49%) of those in hospitality and accommodation said Covid-19 had had a severe impact on their business. That was easily the highest figure of the 10 sectors we surveyed. To put that number in perspective, the Construction sector figure was 22%, Health and Community Services at 19% and Wholesale at 15%.

What had not helped the hospitality and accommodation sector was that it had been difficult to get finance. 43% said it was more difficult to get finance. That was well ahead of any other sector with the industry average at 36%. One in three (33%) said they were knocked back for finance compared to the industry average of 26%.

39% of Canberra businesses are either Fairly Worried or Extremely Worried whilst it is 38% in Melbourne. Perth (12%) and Canberra (12%) were the most Extremely Worried. Brisbane was the most optimistic with 49% of businesses either Extremely Confident or Fairly Confident for the next 12 months. Brisbane was followed by Hobart (44%) and Sydney (43%).

The Construction and Building sector was the most confident with 47% either Extremely or Fairly Confident of the next 12 months ahead of Transport/Storage (46%), and Wholesale and Finance and Insurance both at 45%.

Executive Summary

13% of Melbourne businesses surveyed said they will close their doors sometime in the next 12 months. This was just ahead of Perth with 12% followed by Brisbane and Sydney at 7%. Metropolitan businesses are nearly twice as likely to close over the next year with 5% of Regional businesses saying they will close compared to 9% in Metropolitan areas.

Transport/Storage believes it will be the hardest hit sector with 13% of businesses saying they will close over the next year followed by Cultural and Recreational and Other Services at 12%. Interestingly only 6% of Accommodation/Cafes/Restaurants intended to close.

One of the most disturbing findings was that 56% of Melbourne businesses said they had seen a significant reduction in sales against a national average of 44%. Just 39% of Sydney businesses and 23% of Hobart businesses said they had been significantly impacted.

One surprising fact from the survey was that SMBs who applied for and received JobKeeper were more likely to have laid off staff than those who didn’t apply or applied but didn’t receive JobKeeper. 40% of SMBs applied for JobKeeper of which 90% were successful.

SMB confidence
SMBs confidence improving

- Despite the impacts of Covid-19 and the nations lockdowns over the last three months, small business owners are less pessimistic about the future than might be expected.
- 8% of businesses are extremely confident about the next 12 months, 34% fairly confident, 25% neither confident or worried, 23% fairly worried about the coming 12 months and 10% extremely worried.
- After March’s massive drop in confidence, it is pleasing to see small and medium business confidence improving.

By how much has COVID-19 changed your staffing numbers?

What percentage of your workforce did you lay off?
Access to finance

- More than one in four businesses (26%) have been knocked back in trying to get finance over the past three months.
- The figure was worse in the bush with 37% of those applying in our Regional towns being knocked back compared to 25% in our cities. The number of businesses applying for finance has dropped to 13% (16% in March 2020, 17% in December 2019).
- 37% of SMBs believe it is more difficult to get finance since the start of Covid-19 with 51% saying it was about the same and 12% saying it was easier.
- In the March report, 14% of SMEs believed it was getting easier to access finance, 32% thought it was harder and 54% saw no change.
- Overall 13% of businesses surveyed sought finance assistance with 22% in Melbourne applying, 21% in Sydney and 17% in Canberra.
- Of those who applied, 59% were successful, 26% were unsuccessful and 14% are still awaiting a decision.
- Regional businesses said it was 40% more difficult and 35% in our major capital cities.
Time to pay

- 20% of SMBs are seeing time it is taking to get paid by their customers increasing compared to a year ago.
- This is impacting metro businesses far more than regional businesses. 23% of metro SMBs saw time to pay increasing but only 13.6% of regional businesses saw increases.
- In Tasmania and Western Australia, more businesses saw decreases in time to pay than increases.
- Increases in time to pay have significantly hit a number of industries. Tradies (22.5%), Manufacturing (29.4%), Finance (23.4%), Professional services (23.4%) and Wholesale (29.3%) have all seen rises in time to pay above the national average.

Confidence in the economy
SMBs confidence in the economy continues to drop

- The realities of the Covid-19 recession are hitting SMB confidence in the economy more than in previous quarters.
- Victorian SMBs are the most pessimistic about their economy, with 66.5% believing the Victorian economy will be worse in 12 months time. This is an improvement on last quarter. Despite Victoria’s lockdown, this figure is better than last quarter when 70% of SMBs believed the economy would be worse in 12 months’ time. 14.9% believe it will be in a better place.
- SMBs in Tasmania are the most positive about their state economy. 23.9% believe the Tasmanian economy will be better in 12 months time, 31% feel it will be the same and 45.1% believe it will be worse. WA SMBs follow closely behind in their positivity. 17.9% believe the economy will be better, 41.4% believe it will be the same and only 40.7% believe it will be worse.
SMB attitudes to Governments

- Tasmanian SMBs once again led the way in believing their Government was most supportive of small business, with 62% saying the Tasmanian State Govt was supportive of small business and only 3% saying it worked against small business.
- 24% of Victorian SMBs, in the midst of stage 4 lockdown, believed the Victorian State Government was working against small business.
