

Which Application Plan Is Right for Me?

Deciding Between Regular and Early Admission Plans

It Starts With Asking Good Questions...

- Have I visited this college while classes were in session? Met with an Admissions Representative? Spoken with students or faculty?
.....
- Have I truly explored my academic, extracurricular and social options at this college?
.....
- How well have I researched this college and other colleges that interest me?
.....
- What does the financial aid application process look like at this school?
.....
- What merit scholarship opportunities are there for me?
.....
- Have I talked with a financial aid officer for an estimate of college costs and to find out how Early Decision could affect my aid package
.....

- Have I discussed my plans and aspirations with my family or a trusted advisor?
.....
- Do I have a true first choice college, or do other colleges still interest me? Which ones?
.....
- Once I am ready to apply to any of my colleges of interest, will my application be carefully drafted, re-drafted and proofread so it is ready for submission?
.....
.....
- How much of a stress-reliever would it be for me to hear back with a “Yes, you’ve been admitted!” early on on my college process?
.....
.....

Your Own Questions 😊

-
.....
-
.....
-
.....

AchieveCoach College Consulting Professional member, IECA; NACAC

Providing expert and personalized guidance to students and families throughout the college search and admissions process

Work better, stress less, achieve more™

Marla Platt, M.B.A.

www.AchieveCoach.com

978 440 8210

Marla@AchieveCoach.com

Copyright 2021 AchieveCoach College Consulting All rights reserved