What is an Area Agency on Aging?

An Area Agency on Aging (AAA) is a public or private non-profit agency, designated by the state to address the needs and concerns of all older Americans. Area Agencies on Aging are dedicated to enhancing the quality of life for older adults and their families by providing information about and access to a variety of services in local communities. AAA’s often serve as a “single point of information” about the complex and fragmented range of services for older adults and their caregivers.

Area Agencies on Aging coordinate and support a wide range of home and community-based supportive and nutrition services as well as services for family caregivers. Not all AAA’s provide the same services.

Older American Act Services funded through Grand Gateway Area Agency on Aging include: Information and Assistance, Long Term Care Ombudsman, Caregiver Training and Respite, Homemaker Chore Services, Nutrition Programs, Health Promotion & Medication Management, Pelivan Transportation, Legal Aid Services and others.

Grand Gateway Programs also include: Silver Haired Legislators, Special Oklahoma State funds for Community Enhancement of Nutrition Assistance (CENA), Masonic Foundation Grant, Grand Old Times Newspaper, Information and Assistance Directory, Disaster Assistance and others. The staff is always happy to accommodate Educational Presentations on various aging issues.
