1. Welcome to Guggenheim museum. For some reason, this character has fallen into the first floor pool. What is the character’s name?
2. Venturing into the museum, you’ll come across a peach and green display case. What’s inside?
   a. Who designed it and in what year was it created?
3. Tick tock goes the clock on the floor similar to this question’s place in this scavenger hunt. What time does it read, and what time should it actually read?
4. Further on this floor, a carpenter has left the viewers an interesting message in nails, which in this social distancing circumstance, some can 100% agree with. What does it say?
5. Venturing up to the next floor, you’ll find a vacuum that is a bit stuck. What color is the vacuum?
6. In the next display over, what are these pictures from?
7. Not sure why the artist ruined their clay piece in this display, what color is the hammer that he used?
8. On the second to last level up, there are how many figures created from what looks to be toilet paper, don’t they know we’re having a shortage?!?
9. On the top floor, what is the water bubbler look like it’s made of?
10. And finally, there is a crazy cool shopping cart on this floor. What’s it made of?

1. What is 1900 Oceania’s headdress made from?
   a. What was it used for?
2. This 1689 European clock was created by one of Britain’s most celebrated clock makers. Who is he?
   a. What mythical animal is on the clock, right beside the lion?
3. Can you imagine wearing these Byzantine Empire gold and enamel earrings around AD 900? Their poor ears! How many birds are on each earring?
   a. Enamel is a protective coating over a hard surface to protect it. Human enamel is the hardest human tissue. Where is it found?
4. In the same time period, head over to the African timeline and rock out with their artwork. What color is the giraffe depicted on their rock art.
   a. What group of people, whose direct lineage are still around 4,000 years later, were said to have created this art?
5. These 700 AD Tang Dynasty figures stand over 1 meter tall! How tall is that in feet?
   a. In the group of figures, there are two lokapala. What are lokapala?
TOURING THE WORLD, ONE COOL PLACE AT A TIME
BRITISH MUSEUM OF THE WORLD PART 2 500AD-200AD
https://britishmuseum.withgoogle.com/

1. Medieval Asia in 400 AD has a terracotta tile with a musician on it.
   a. What is terracotta?
   b. What type of instrument is the man playing?
2. The ivory Pyxis from 300 AD has some really cool carvings of this animal.
   a. Where does ivory most typically come from?
   b. What is a Pyxis?
3. From Ancient Egypt around the same time, warriors wore armor of this creature's skin.
   a. Who donated this item in 1846?
4. Right around the BC/AD line, in the Americas, this vegetarian creature was shaped into a pipe, used in ceremonies promoting good standing.
   a. Where is this creature said to be from?
   b. Who are the people that brought this pipe to this part of the country?
5. Gayer-Anderson cat came out of what ancient country?
   a. Who is the goddess that is attributed to the cat?
   b. What Delta was the use of this cat most prevalent?

TOURING THE WORLD, ONE COOL PLACE AT A TIME
AN ADVENTURE THROUGH THE WHITE HOUSE
https://tinyurl.com/qrtgd69

1. In the Green Room, which used mostly for tea time, there is a crazy geometric painting. What is propped up against the wall in the painting?
2. In the East Room you'll find a portrait of this number one man. Who is it?
3. In the grand Entrance Hall, above the grand piano there is a painting of this President.
4. Across the hall from that painting is a painting of President George W. Bush. What are on the arms of the red sofa under his painting?
5. Down the hallway from President Bush, there is a painting of the president from MA. He is looking at the ground. What’s his name?
6. The State Dining Room is next, with the long table in the middle. What president is sitting down, but for some reason he’s not at the table?
7. This room also has 3 crazy tables with what creature as their front legs.
   a. Bonus—This creature is also one of the legs to another item in the White House’s first floor. What is it?
8. Beside the State Room is this color room, which is used for small dinner parties and used to be used as a music room.