

Pet Insurance

- Pet insurance will allow both you and your veterinarian the freedom to choose the best possible treatment plan for your pet without compromise
- Many pet insurance companies to choose from so do your research and understand what condition/procedures your pet will be covered for or exempt from before you join
- Some will cover basic illness, while others extend to more serious illness and accidents
- If your pet has any medical conditions before signing up you may be exempt from making claims relating to this illness
- Check for any exclusions – some policies will ensure for life, others will only cover for a short time
