Happiness & Sustainability Around the Earth

HOW TO STIMULATE HAPPINESS NATIONALLY: The case of Nigeria

OREOLUWA OLOWE
Stimulating happiness nationally stems from understanding people’s needs and wants. These needs vary per different age groups, gender, socio-economic class etcetera. Happiness could be stimulated by having in succession a responsive government as well as an equitable justice system. Provision of basic amenities like good roads, regular power supply, access to clean water, Good healthcare system, quality and inclusive education, decent jobs, improved living condition bears correlation with happiness. It sets the tone for people to want to contribute their quota to engendering development.
