Your standard, successful website is made from a blend of beautiful design, clearly written content and a well-thought-out conversion funnel. And all of that's great, but who wants to just be 'standard,' when you can be so much more? To maximize your website's potential as a customer-conversion machine, you need to create a visitor experience that is highly engaging and speaks directly to your potential customers' needs.

We deliver professional, high-quality websites for our clients that evoke emotion and improve interaction. Simply put, our design work delivers real, measurable results.

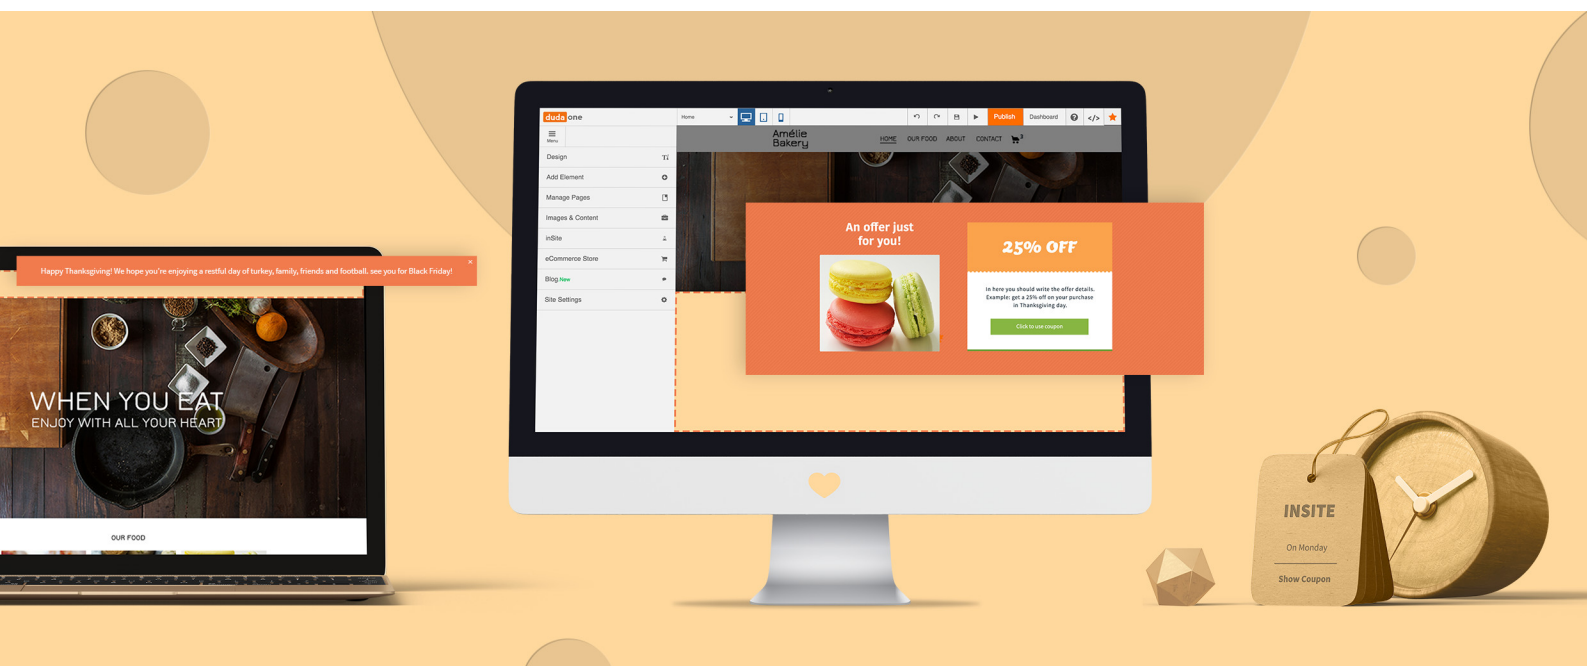

Our state-of-the-art features are proven to increase search engine ranking, boost sales, and deliver a better overall experience across every device type.

One Website That Works on Desktop, Tablet and Mobile

Traditional desktop only sites simply won't cut it anymore. One study from comScore found that 49 percent of digital media time is spent on mobile devices, with tablets accounting for an additional 12 percent. With just 31 percent of time left over for desktop devices, it becomes clear that websites should be built mobile-friendly, tablet-friendly, and desktop-friendly. That's why we employ what's called responsive web design.

Traditionally, responsive design means stretching and shrinking your site to fit different screen sizes. However, we take it a step further by tailoring different features for different devices as well. For example, a Click-to-Call button will appear on a mobile device, but not a tablet or desktop. The experience and the needs of a visitor can greatly differ between a mobile and desktop device, and we make sure that our content and designs consistently reflect that.

Website Personalization

Normally, the web is a uniform experience—every visitor gets the same experience on a website as the next person. But over the past few years, large enterprises like Amazon have used a strategy of website personalization to boost their conversion rates. This is because creating a one-to-one visitor experience speaks directly to a potential customer and their needs.

However, we don't think this technology should be reserved for companies with vast budgets and endless resources. So, we've developed a way to offer this kind advanced customer-conversion technology to small business owners like you.

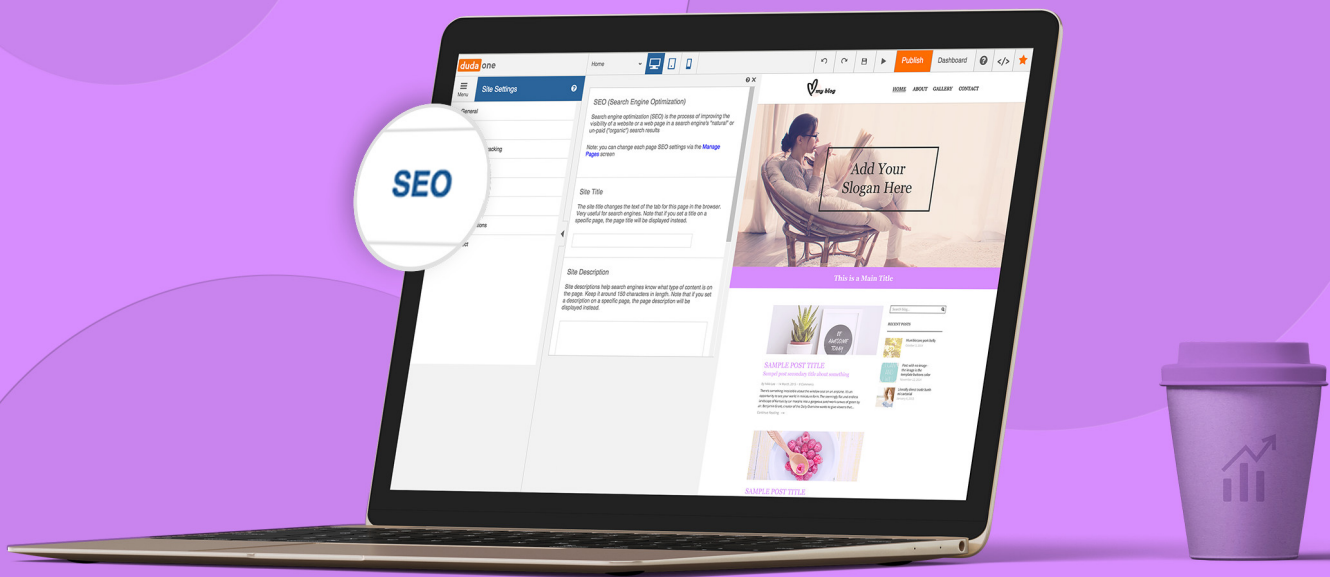

Stats on Website Personalization

There's a few statistics that show how much web personalization can help the success of your website.

- Nearly three in four (74 percent) online consumers get frustrated with websites when the content that's displayed, such as offers or promotions, has nothing to do with their interests.
- In-house marketers who personalize their customers' web experiences see an average of 19 percent uplift in sales.

Vodatrade can create a dynamic website that changes based on user's behavior such as visit history, location, proximity to your business, time of day/week/month, device type, etc., that adapts its content to deliver a tailored experience with business-driving features that increase conversions.

Website personalization truly is the next great frontier in web design.

Better Search Engine Optimization (SEO)

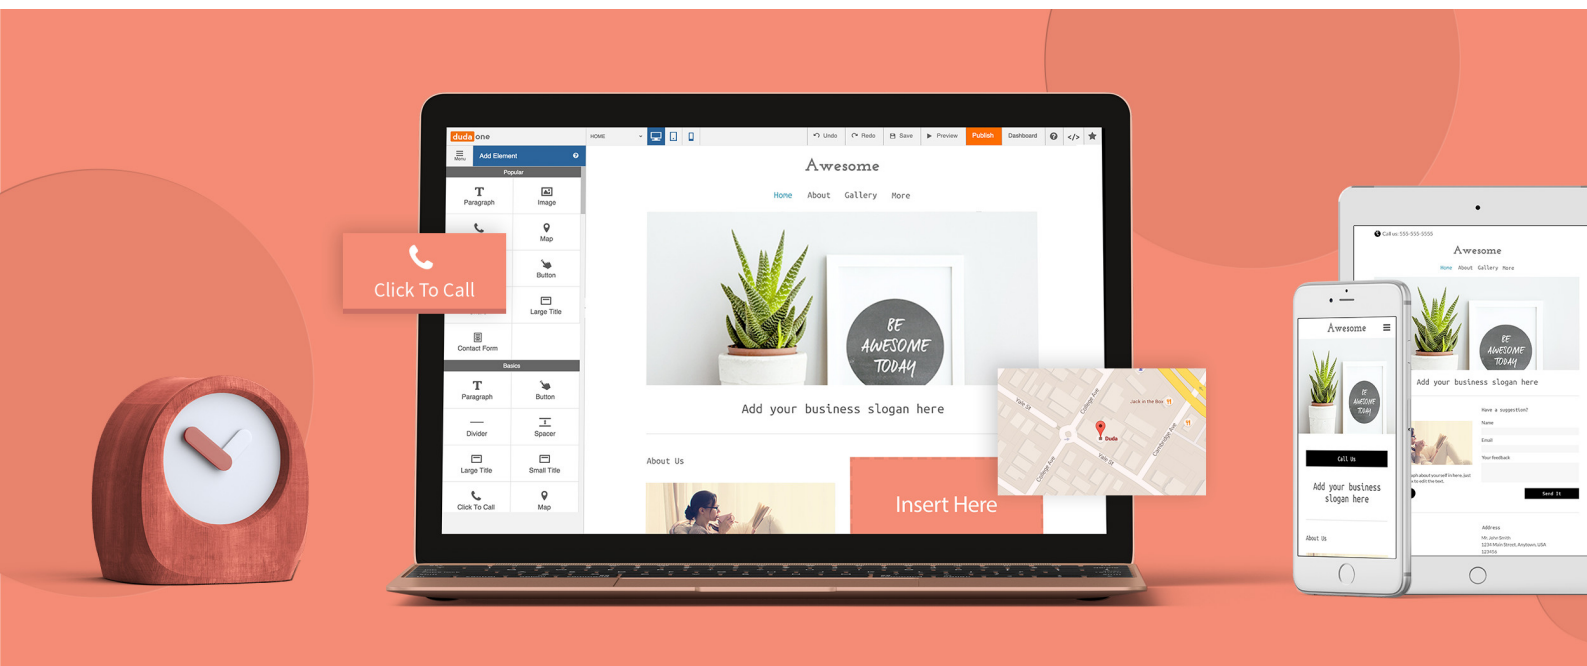

No matter how big or small your website is, SEO is one of the most powerful tools available. Search engine optimization relates to how well your site does in search rankings on sites like Google. The higher your site climbs in rankings, the more likely it will gain new traffic, visits and customers.

Knowing this, we employ the best of the best SEO practices on all of our websites to get our clients the best traffic possible. We accomplish this by highly targeting certain keywords and optimizing the structure of your site to be the most Google-friendly it can be.

Once again, this is where responsive design comes into play. The websites we create are structured under one URL (e.g. www.vodatrade.ie), which makes it easier for Google to find relevant information on your website that helps give you a boost in rankings. This is especially important for highly valued mobile search traffic.

Currently, mobile devices are winning the battle for supremacy in local search, and these searchers are looking to take action. According to a study from Google, four out of five consumers conduct local searches on search engines and 88 percent of them are doing it on smartphones. What's more, 50 percent of these people will visit an online store within a day.

But we don't stop there. We'll work hand in hand with your business to gain a full understanding of what we can do to develop a comprehensive SEO strategy that generates more traffic on every device. More traffic means more enquiries and more business.

Superior Speed

High-speed website performance isn't a luxury for a great website - it's a requirement. Not only do people expect a page to load quickly, but Google has indicated that page speed is a direct factor for SEO. Neither your customers nor Google has a second to spare waiting for a page to load, so page speed is one of our top priorities.

When we're crafting our sites, we go through extreme lengths to ensure that we live up to the promise of a fast site, and we routinely test the speed of your site to double check that we maintain that standard. Here are a few ways we achieve the speeds demanded by Google and your visitors:

1. Optimized Images – Our images go through a process that generates a number of images in different sizes (to be delivered as needed to the device your visitor is using) and compresses them without losing quality.
2. Server Response Time – Sites hosted through our agency will display for your clients very quickly. We write our code and design our infrastructure specifically to this end.
3. Global CDN – To double-up on speed, we use a global CDN, so no matter where someone is trying to view your site from, the site load-time for them is just a few seconds.
4. Constant Testing – We routinely test our client's site speed scores every to make sure your site speeds meet our standards.

Better Overall Experience

So now you know the nuts and bolts of our website building process, and you have a better understanding of the features that we offer. But what all of this really comes down to is, at the end of the day, we want to help our clients be successful.

Why Work With Us

We've found the only way to accomplish all these goals to build a special relationship with our clients through a constant process of communication and feedback. If we're going to carry out our promise of delivering a personal and incredible website experience to your potential customers, we also need to deliver a personal experience to you.
