

GRANULOMA ANNULARE

Granuloma annulare is a raised, bumpy, or ring-shaped lesion, which can occur singly or in groups on the skin. It is more common in children and young adults, although it may affect people of all ages. Women are twice as likely as are men to develop granuloma annulare.

Source: American Academy of Dermatology