PLAYER BIOGRAPHY

In 2017 a 16 year old Derick Marshall burst onto the KZN rugby scene for Kearsney College, earning himself Grant Khomo honours. What many do not realize is that Derick had transferred to Kearsney from an Afrikaans school in Johannesburg, entering Kearsney that year hardly speaking a word of English. All of a sudden every subject of his was in English, his textbooks were in English, all his new friends were English and most of his teachers as well. Derick persevered, learned the language and thrived, being elected a school and boarding house prefect, he leads religious study groups and most impressive of all, finished his grade 11 year with a 75% overall grade average.

This is testament to Derick's unconquerable character. He consists of all the physical and mental attributes to play on the highest level of the sport. Derick is one of the most versatile players in South Africa, having the pace to beat his man on the outside and the strength to carry the ball hard and straight. His skill enables him to work his hands through the tackle and often gives accurate offloads to his team mates. Derick also has one of the most impressive kicking ranges in the country, often pinning back the opposition from within his own 22. He has the strength and physicality to dominate defensive situations and always wins collisions.

At a young age he is already displaying the professionalism, desire and determination that goes hand in hand with long term success. Derick is the ultimate team man that always places team success before individual achievements.
