A WORD FROM DR. STEWART

Hello 2021!

It's a new year, so let's start by getting the whole family healthy smiles! Good dental habits not only promote healthy teeth and beautiful smiles, they contribute to overall health as well.

As you know, a healthy diet is important for maintaining good dental health. Eat your fruits and veggies, they strengthen your teeth and fight bacteria that cause gum disease. Cut back on the sweets, sugary foods produce acids that wear away enamel and cause tooth decay.

Brush and floss twice a day to prevent gum disease, which can lead to other health problems. Dental disease is preventable with good oral home care and regular dental care where dental problems addressed early and nipped in the bud. Make sure you come see us at least every six months.

Call now to schedule your dental appointment, and let your friends and family know about our office. Happy New Year!

In Health,
Dr. Stewart
