A WORD FROM DR. STEWART

Maintaining a Healthy Smile

Nighttime Tips: A lot can happen to your mouth in eight hours, especially when you're sleeping. There are actually several ways to maintain your oral health while you sleep.

Brushing and flossing before you go to sleep at night helps protect against plaque buildup, tooth decay, and gum disease. Consider switching to an electric toothbrush. The rotating and oscillating movement removes plaque from your teeth more efficiently than a regular toothbrush. Rinse with a therapeutic mouthwash. They contain special ingredients that strengthen teeth and will help keep your teeth free of plaque and your gums safe from gingivitis. Lastly, if you find that you are grinding overnight, come see us about a custom fitted night guard.
