

▶ Safer Roads Through Stiffer Penalties for DWI

Cracking Down on Drunk Drivers

Every 48 minutes a repeat drunk driver is responsible for someone's death on America's roadways. Of the 365 alcohol-impaired fatalities in North Carolina in 2010 (latest available NHSTA data), 254 involved repeat offenders with BACs of 0.15 or above. With more than 54,000 DWI arrests in 2011, more stringent laws now empower the state to impose greater punishment, higher fines, and the use of Continuous Alcohol Monitoring \(CAM\) for high-risk offenders.

CAM in North Carolina and Nationwide

Used in 49 states, SCRAM Continuous Alcohol Monitoring™ (CAM) has been targeting repeat drunk drivers since 2003—with more than 280,000 offenders monitored nationwide. In North Carolina, of the 1,500 offenders who have completed SCRAM CAM programs to-date, 81% completely refrained from drinking for the duration of their monitoring periods.

Upheld in 84 evidentiary hearings, SCRAM CAM meets Frye/Daubert standards, provides single-source admissibility, and helps courts fulfill mandates of impaired driving statutes by:

- Monitoring offenders 24/7 for drinking
- Reducing recidivism by 45% in hardcore offenders (National Center for State Courts, 2009)
- Enforcing great accountability for the highest-risk offenders
  - In North Carolina on any given day, 99.4% of DWI offenders monitored with SCRAM CAM have a completely sober day, defined as a 24-hour period where testing confirms no drinking and no attempt to tamper with testing

Key laws expanding pretrial and post-conviction use of CAM devices include:

▶ SL 2011–191 (HB 49) | Laura's Law

Passed to honor a teenage girl who was killed on a North Carolina highway in 2010 by a repeat drunk driver, Laura's Law dramatically increases penalties for DWI offenders with three or more aggravating factors. Crackdowns include higher fines, definite prison terms, and mandatory use of CAM.

▶ SL 2012–49 (HB 494) | Continuous Alcohol Monitoring

This law provides for the use of CAM as a condition of pretrial release or post-conviction probation for the offense of impaired driving. It also allows for the use of CAM to ensure compliance with child custody and visitation orders.

▶ SL 2009–500 (HB 926) | CAM for Restoration of Revoked License

This legislation enables the Department of Motor Vehicles to conditionally restore a revoked license using CAM as follows:

- Four-year license revocation – Restoration hearing at two years with a minimum 120 days on CAM
- Permanent revocation – Restoration hearing at two years with minimum 365 days on CAM

For your convenience, a guide to implementing CAM under provisions of these statutes is provided on the reverse.
