PARISH BUSINESS

The Immaculate Conception
Our Lady of Guadalupe
Holy Mother of God, Mother of the Eucharist

It is midway through Advent. Now is a ripe time to meditate on Our Lady's Journey toward Bethlehem; to ponder in our own hearts the great things God Our Father has done for her, for us. We can borrow Mary's words from the Magnificat: "My soul magnifies the Lord, and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior…for He who is mighty has done great things for me..." and make them our own. God has done mighty things for each one of us, for the benefit of each, for the good of all.

How fitting that the Church places the feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe in the middle of Advent. Our Lady is with child, desires to give birth to Him and with her Immaculate Heart, desires to make Him our brother. The Word of God became flesh and dwelt among us. What love! What immense sacrifice!

Just as Mary revealed baby Jesus to the shepherds in the fields, to the kings who would come and kneel before Him, and found her joy and wealth in the presence of His divine love, she beckons us to come and adore Him in the Blessed Sacrament. Love expresses itself to the object of its affection—with humble hearts, perhaps in the midst of cold and desolation, we can place ourselves before our God, truly present in the Holy Eucharist, as Mary did in the stable at Bethlehem. Paying no heed to the cold, the dark, the indifference, she kept her gaze on her Lord, her child! Let us unite ourselves to Mary's perfect adoration of Jesus. Let us encourage each other to rest in the peace of Christ, for we are called to "Rejoice always, never cease praying, render constant thanks: such is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." (1 Th 5:16-18)

The Chapel is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. For more information, call Joan Taylor 630-530-8963 or Mary Lewis 630-941-9173.

Retirement Fund for Religious

Aging religious need your help. In the United States today, there are more than 33,000 senior Catholic sisters, brothers, and religious order priests. These religious worked tirelessly in Catholic schools, hospitals, and agencies, usually for little to no pay. As a result, many religious communities lack adequate savings for retirement and eldercare. Your gift to today's collection for the Retirement Fund for Religious helps provide medications, nursing care, and more. Please be generous.

Vatican II: 50 Years Later (December 13, 2015)

This past Tuesday, December 8, was the Feast of the Immaculate Conception of Mary, and this year it marked the 50th anniversary of the closing of Vatican II. Pope Francis also chose this day as the beginning of the Jubilee Year of Mercy (Dec 8, 2015 – Nov 20, 2016), which you will be hearing more about in the coming months. As a way of celebrating the 50th anniversary of Vatican II and placing it in context, in this bulletin series we have been exploring the history of the 21 ecumenical councils recognized by the Catholic Church. Last week we looked at the election of Pope John XXIII and the early years of his pontificate. On January 25, 1959, John officially presented his idea for convoking an ecumenical council at the Vatican in the coming years.

After four years of planning and preparation, Vatican II, the 21st ecumenical council in the Church's history, officially began on October 11, 1962, with a Mass in St. Peter's Basilica. Over 2800 church leaders (known as the council "fathers") had been invited to participate in the council: 85 cardinals, 8 patriarchs, 533 archbishops, 2,131 bishops, and 94 abbots and superiors of religious orders. (This made Vatican II the largest meeting in the history of the world.) They would all have a vote in the decisions made by the council, and most of them had their own theological advisors whom they brought with them. There were also dozens of official "observers" of the council from various Orthodox and Protestant churches, who had been invited to participate in the discussions, but did not have a vote. After the opening mass, Pope John XXIII gave a speech to the council fathers in which he called upon them to bring the Church "up to date" in the modern world by reaching back to the earliest sources of Christianity: the Bible and the writings of the early Church Fathers. (Just a few days after the council began, the Cuban Missile Crisis broke out between the USA and the USSR, and Pope John helped to broker the peace deal between President Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev.)

The fathers would meet in council Monday to Friday, from October through early December. At the time, most people expected the council to last for one or two periods, but in the end it required four periods, from October through early December of 1962 to 1965. After each period the fathers would return to their home dioceses until the next period began.

Perhaps the most important decision of the council took place at the first gathering. On October 13, 1962, the fathers were to choose 16 of their colleagues for each of 10 preparatory commissions. These commissions would do the work of listening to the speeches of the fathers on the various issues, and composing the working documents to be presented back to the fathers for revision. At this opening meeting, the "old guard" among the curia tried to push through a quick vote, forcing the fathers to vote for the conservative members of the curia who had composed the working documents before the council began. In a key move, Cardinal Lienart from France gave a speech in which he asked for a few days before the vote would take place, so the bishops could get to know each other. Loud applause erupted among the fathers as a way of saying that they would not simply rubber stamp a council run by the curia. This assertion of the collective voice of the fathers would give Vatican II a truly democratic spirit, and would help to balance the heavy emphasis on papal authority that had been the result of Vatican I (1869-70) and its definition of papal infallibility.

The first topic taken up by the council was the reform of the liturgy (the Mass). In the 100 years leading up to Vatican II, much work had been done in uncovering the history and development of the Mass. The Tridentine Mass (in Latin), which had flowed from the Council of Trent (1545-63) and remained unchanged all the way up to Vatican II, was not as timeless as people thought. There had been change and development in the liturgy from the very beginning, so to reform it the fathers at Vatican II wanted to reach past Trent to the early Church. This combination of bringing the Church up to date with the modern world by reaching deep into the Church's full Tradition would be a hallmark of Vatican II. The slogan for the reform of the Mass was the desire for "the full, conscious, and active participation of the laity" in the liturgy. Thus, the Mass was to be translated from Latin into the local languages. Also, the laity would be allowed to receive the consecrated wine, and the altar would be moved to the center of the sanctuary so the priest could celebrate the Mass facing the people. Room was made for local variation after the council by allowing local bishops conferences to make adaptations according to culture. Thus, in the USA and many other countries, it became allowable to receive the consecrated host in the hand, rather than only on the tongue.

The Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy (Sacrasanctum concilium) was officially promulgated the following December, 1963. Shortly thereafter, the changes in the Mass began to take effect all over the world, and the design of new churches reflected this.

The recipients of the prayer quilts may be going through a health issue, facing surgery, be in the military (or just returned from military duty), dealing with grief, emotional concerns, etc. They do not have to be members of Visitation Parish or Catholic.

Anyone may offer a prayer quilt to anyone you feel might benefit and appreciate being covered by our prayers. The recipient MUST agree to accept the prayer quilt. If you would like to request a prayer quilt for someone, please complete the form below, place it in the collection basket or drop off at the Rectory Business Office and someone from the prayer quilt ministry will get in touch with you to obtain additional information.

Catholic Book Club December Selection

The Innocence of Father Brown

Each year, the Catholic Book Club reads and discusses a book by Gilbert K. Chesterton. A convert to Catholicism, G.K. Chesterton (1874-1936), is one of the most prolific, profound and diverse writers in the English language. He was a twentieth-century author of books in the fields of literature, philosophy, religion and mystery.

This month the book club will read what is among the most read of Chesterton's numerous publications, The Innocence of Father Brown. In this book, Chesterton writes individual stories about an ordinary priest, (based on an actual Catholic priest known to him) whose unremarkable exterior conceals his extraordinary crime-solving abilities. In his brilliant, insightful manner, Chesterton, unlike other mystery writers, not only perfects the mystery story genre, but in these stories often includes deeply perceptive philosophical reflections.

Join us in discussing these remarkable stories in the Fireside Room, Parish Center, 9:30-11:30 A.M. on Thursday, December 17. An introduction to this book is available. If you would like a copy, please contact Madonna Muscarello, 630-325-7990 or email, gracicakes@aol.com.

DIOCESAN

CATHOLIC CHARITIES SERVES NEEDY FAMILIES

Catholic Charities, Diocese of Joliet, hopes to make Christmas a little brighter for low income and homeless families in DuPage County. This year, through the Agency's Holiday Outreach Program, approximately one thousand children and their parents have already been "adopted" by donors and parishes.

Although most families were "adopted" during the early fall months, Catholic Charities is still in great need of monetary donations to purchase gift cards for food and clothing for families who will ask for our help before and during the Christmas holidays.

Your donation to purchase food and gift cards for these families and their children may be mailed to Catholic Charities' Holiday Outreach Program, 26 W. St. Charles Road, Lombard, IL 60148. If you prefer, you may donate small denomination ($10, $25 and $50) gift cards for area grocery stores and department stores (example: Target, Wal-Mart, Kmart, and Kohl's).

Catholic Charities relies on the continued generosity of the community to help them serve every needy family. Thank you and God bless you for all that you do!
