Seeds for PEACE Urban Gardening Project

The summer of 2019 marked the inauguration of an urban gardening project that pairs Pittsburgh area students with community leaders and veterans to beautify urban spaces throughout the city. Students are responsible for the planting, maintenance, and harvesting of gardens. Produce harvested is given to the community as students better themselves and the areas they live in.

Skills learned by students include:

- Environmental responsibility
- Phytoremediation
- Flower cultivation
- Composting
- Water conservation
- Forming healthy eating habits
- Giving back to the community
- Self-sufficiency
- Agricultural science

Contact the NEED office to learn more about the program and see how you or your child can help out!