Welcome and Announcements:

- M'Liss reminded attendees that we will be on a schedule of bi-monthly meetings for 2020 and determine Task Force meetings as needed.
- Update on One-Call, One Click King County Metro has applied for the Federal Transit Administration's Innovative Coordinated Access and Mobility grant on behalf of Hopelink. The application was submitted to fund a One-Call One-Click service that specializes in connections to healthcare and rural access, with goals of regional implementation. This comes after the King County Mobility Coalition's Inclusive Planning work to investigate a regional One-Call One-Click through months of outreach, stakeholder interviews, a prototype launch, and a region-specific business plan. If the grant is received, the King County Mobility Coalition will house a One-Call One-Click pilot.
- Kelly Coughlin shared Senator Steve Hobbs's plan to consider a toll on Hwy 18 as part of his 10 year Transportation plan which Hobbs is calling "Forward Washington."
- Angela Donaldson shared post flooding news on two neighborhoods currently under evacuation in Fall City, more will be reported as water resides.
- Amy Biggs offered a Duvall-Monroe shuttle update and ridership is up 60% compared to this time last year and MoDevlin from Metro who had worked on supporting employer van pools is no longer with Metro.
- Dan Story added ORCA Lift cards will be free to clients at Public Health.
- Aaron Morrow will be meeting with Metro's General Manager regarding regional issues and the political climate for the future of equity in transit for east King County, specifically Issaquah.

Updates:

M'Liss shared the results of the 2019 Satisfaction Survey sent to the coalition and is delighted 60 % of survey takers are "extremely" satisfied with current coalition methods and how the survey results will inform 2020 plans.

Discussion:

- The topic of tourism in the Snoqualmie Valley was discussed with Kelly Coughlin of Snoqualmie Valley Chamber of Commerce sharing she has gathered data on how many visit the Valley (8 million people), peak visiting times and how long they stay, which is not long. A request has been put forth to examine ways to encourage longer staying time in the Valley and the intersection of tourism and transportation.
