Salsberry Earns Safety Award

Anthony Salsberry, Central Valley Electric Cooperative journeyman/lineman, was awarded the Long Rope Safety Award. Salsberry was recognized by his peers as a leader in safety on May 19, at the co-op's monthly safety meeting. Colleagues who nominated Salsberry for the award said, "Anthony's commitment to safety, not only to himself, but also to the safety of our entire crew is well respected. He has always shown and set a positive and safe work ethic for others to follow. He is always ready for new obstacles and tries to keep the guys around him excited to progress in their careers."

The Long Rope Safety Award is given to an individual who has a positive attitude toward training, communication, and safe work habits. They are a leader and continually demonstrate a culture of safety in such a challenging industry. The award is dedicated to all linemen in New Mexico who have been killed or injured on the job.

The employees, management and board of trustees of CVE would like to congratulate Salsberry for being a good representative of everything this award stands for.

Safety First on the Fourth

It's the favorite, flag-waving holiday that has something for everyone—parades, picnics, games, fun, and food!

It's also the holiday that requires a little celebration common sense from kids to grandparents. For example:

- Place your grill away from dry grass, bushes, your house, and keep it out of the wind.
- Use extreme caution with fireworks. Make sure a knowledgeable person handles the fireworks display.
- Generously apply sunscreen when outdoors, and reapply every two hours, even on cloudy days, and after swimming or sweating.

So celebrate the Fourth of July with safety in mind and enjoy all of the festivities.

CVE will be CLOSED Tuesday, July 4, in observance of Independence Day.
