Even though our traditional Western Heritage line is where we started, throughout the last 2 decades we have designed and built many other styles of furniture from modern to contemporary and much, much, more. Let us help you choose a style of furniture that best fits your home.

A style that captures the warmth and charm of the old west, reminiscent of the painted desert. Being our trademark, practically all of our designs tie in with the rustic Western home.

Lodge

Ghostwood

Ghostwood comes from the beams, boards, and lumber that was once used by the settlers all throughout the west. Often abandoned and left to disuse, we "harvest" these woods and give them new life by repurposing them into fine quality furniture that will last for generations to come.

Signature

This line of exquisite furniture is design driven with a focus on extraordinary materials. We hand select our salvaged boards and cull the most intriguing and exotic ones to be set-aside for the Signature Collection. These are then merged with hand forged iron bases to create a unique and stunning western style.

Teton

The Teton line gets its name from the natural grandeur of the Teton Mountains in western Wyoming. This particular design includes many pieces of wood put together by our most artistic handiwork, sometimes including more pieces than there are bones in the human body, making it durable and unique yet a beautiful addition to any home.

Expanding Table

Western Heritage Furniture's version of the Expanding Round Table was actually inspired by a nearly 200 year old design, patented by Robert Jupe in 1835. We pride ourselves on the fact that we build each one, by hand, in our shop in Jerome, AZ.
