Too Embarrassed to Let Your Toenails be Seen?

Q:

"I have been battling unsightly and uncomfortable Toenail Fungus. I have tried expensive prescription topicals (20% effective), but there has been little improvement. I am concerned about the side effects, costs, and the liver enzyme testing required when using some oral drugs (60-70% effective). Are there any other options available?"

A:

Yes! Now there is a laser treatment for Toenail Fungus, which is a common issue experienced by more than 20% of men and women of all ages. Fungal toenails are common for more than 50% of men that are over the age of 40. This condition often causes toenails to crumble, thicken, become brittle, and change color. If left untreated, it can lead to serious complications.

Why Would You Trust Anyone but a Foot Doctor with the Treatment of Your Fungal Toenails?

One of the most successful methods of remedying toenail fungus is the application of laser treatment technology - clear nail growth in 80+% of cases as published in trials and confirmed clinically. Podiatry Associates, PC now offers a Laser Treatment for toenail fungus. This safe and painless treatment has no side effects and can be delivered in three treatment sessions of less than 30 minutes each, with no recovery period necessary. The laser penetrates the toenail and destroys organisms embedded in the nail bed and nail plate where the fungus lives.

What patients are saying...

"I came to Castle Valley Dental for a second opinion. Dr. Houser helped explain the what treatment I needed, which was very similar to what the first dentist recommended, but Dr. Houser helped it make sense. He took the time to talk through my questions and concerns. I left fully trusting him. I scheduled to get my work done and was so happy with the results. The staff was friendly, organized and helpful. I highly recommend Castle Valley Dental"
