

Haywards Heath Horticultural Society Data Policy

By becoming a member of the Horticultural Society you are providing us with personal information which we will store and deal with in accordance with the aims and objectives of the Society. We set out below details of how your personal information will be dealt with and your rights in regard to that information. This details the Society's Data Protection Policy.

What is promised is that:

- Your personal details to be held by the Society are your name, address, telephone number, e-mail address and images
- The data is held on paper forms filled in at the time of application and electronically on a database held on a secure computer.
- The data can only be viewed by the Society secretary, membership secretary, Treasurer, Data Protection Officer and other authorised officers of the Society for the purposes of dealing with membership matters and distributing newsletters etc
- Your personal details will not be distributed or shared with any third party. The information held will not be used for any commercial activity.
- We only keep information relevant to the administration of the Society. We do not keep information that is unnecessary.
- We delete old data. Information relating to past members is deleted.
- Emailing of Society notices etc is done on a "BCC" basis, ie the e-mails members receive will not show the other members' addresses.
- We will require each year when you pay your subscription that you re-affirm this agreement.
- You have a right to request that your data is removed.
- You have a right to request details of what information we are holding.
- You have a right to request that we delete any historical data or documents.
- You have a right to request that the details we are holding are changed
- You have a right to request that images we are holding are deleted.